

LANGUAGE AND LEGACIES OF CONFLICT

18 – 19 SEPTEMBER 2017 AT KING'S COLLEGE LONDON

'Language and legacies of conflict' is a two-day event funded by the British Academy which will bring together sociolinguists and researchers in International Relations, to address two main themes:

- Refugees, asylum-seekers & language
- Language & peace-building initiatives

We will also explore the potential methodological compatibility between sociolinguistics and critical IR, as well as the scope for further collaboration.

There will be contributions from: Constantinos Adamides, Leonie Ansems de Vries, Karel Arnaut, Didier Bigo, Constadina Charalambous, Panayiota Charalambous, Costas M. Constantinou, Jef Huysmans, Vivienne Jabri, Martha Karrebaek, Kamran Khan, Diarmait Mac Giolla Chríost, Katrijn Maryns, Emma Mc Cluskey, Jelena Obradovic-Wochnik, Ben Rampton and Martina Tazzioli.

The seminar is part of a two-year interdisciplinary initiative focusing on 'Language, (in)security and everyday practice', which seeks to connect ethnographic descriptions of language and situated practice with critical accounts of the growing significance of geopolitical conflict and insecurity in everyday life.
